

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS MEETING AT SEATTLE
MAINE WOODS FURNISH MANY RARE FLOWERS
Efforts to Remove Religious Prejudice Chief Matter Before Convention.
Frank C. Merritt Describes Beautiful Blooms, Principally Orchids, Found This Summer.

SEATTLE, Wash., August 3.—The annual convention of the Supreme Council of the Knights of Columbus opened here today with delegates from all parts of the United States, as well as Canada, Mexico and the Philippines, in attendance.

The chief matter to be taken up by the convention will be the report of the commissioner on religious prejudices, which has been carried on an investigation for the past year to determine the causes of waves of religious prejudice, and with a view to effecting a more friendly feeling between different religions.

To Declare Allegiance.
Col. P. H. Callahan of Louisville, Ky., chairman of the commission, said: "The recommendations of the report will include a declaration of the Catholic position in regard to civil allegiance, and will condemn the action of the politicians who make religion a partisan issue. It will also condemn the action of the politicians who make religion a partisan issue. It will also condemn the action of the politicians who make religion a partisan issue."

Papal Delegate Sings Mass.
The delegates to the supreme council attended high mass at St. Ignace church, celebrated by Archbishop John Bonzano, the papal delegate, before opening their annual session.

Addresses of welcome were delivered before the council by Gov. Lister, Superior Justice Charles, Mayor Hiram C. Gill and Thomas Burke, president of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce. Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty responded.

LABOR MEN CONFERENCE TO BETTER CONDITIONS
Secretary Wilson Talks to Leaders at San Francisco on Plan of Bringing Man and Job Together.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 3.—The business sessions of the labor conference that has brought to this city labor leaders and state, federal and municipal labor and immigration officials to confer with Secretary of Labor Wilson, will have the following aims:

"Settlement of industrial war by an industrial peace pact based on industrial justice."

"Bringing of the man and the job and the man and the land together."

"Better conditions for the wage-earner and better results for the employer."

Co-operation between state, municipal and federal governments in handling the immigration problems and solving the labor questions.

Prevention of economic waste as a result of industrial strife.

Secretary Wilson's Talk.
Secretary Wilson addressed an audience at the exposition yesterday composed largely of members of labor unions, and he was accorded earnest and at times enthusiastic attention. On the subject of employment the Secretary said:

"We do not hope to settle and solve the problem of unemployment. That is a problem that is still greater than the one we are trying to solve. The greatest need of the unemployed is not solved until you are able to furnish work for every man who desires work. The greatest need of the unemployed is not solved until you are able to furnish work for every man who desires work. The greatest need of the unemployed is not solved until you are able to furnish work for every man who desires work."

TOURING CAR TURNS TURTLE.
Two Killed, Five Hurt, Two of Latter Being Washingtonians.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., August 3.—A large touring car, carrying a party of seven persons from Rochester to Niagara Falls, skidded on the oiled road two miles west of East Pembroke today and turned turtle, killing two and injuring the other five occupants.

Paul West, aged thirty, and Charles West, five years old, both of Rochester, were killed. The injured are Mrs. John W. Ross and Miss Ruth West, both of Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. George Abraham of Mass.; Dr. C. C. and George Harris, chauffeur of the car.

RAILROAD STATION ROBBED.
Thieves Use Rear Window at Hyattsville and Steal $12 in Cash.
Special Correspondence of The Star.
HYATTSVILLE, Md., August 3.—While Station Agent Arnold was absent for a few minutes from the station about 11 o'clock today thieves entered by a rear window and stole $12 in cash. They also took a gold watch and a ring. The thieves were seen by Mr. Arnold had not been away from the building more than eight or ten minutes. During the morning he had noticed two suspicious appearing white men loitering in the vicinity.

Benjamin H. Cross, probably the oldest citizen of the Lanham section of Prince Georges county, died yesterday at the age of eighty-five years. He leaves one sister.

FOUR MYSTERIOUS FIRES.
House Near Rosslyn, Va., Seemingly Fired by Incendiary.
Four mysterious fires, seemingly of incendiary origin, in a vacant house at the entrance of Dead Man's hollow, near Rosslyn, Va., have caused the inhabitants of that community guessing. The house has been vacant about a year. The first fire occurred about three months ago. The last occurred last night. Barks covered with kerosene were reported to have been found in the building, which was built four years ago by Hugh Thrift of this city.

Auto Overturns, Injuring Woman.
Mr. and Mrs. Achille Burkin and daughter, 1003 L street northwest, were occupants of an automobile that overturned at Sherman avenue and Harvard street about 10:30 this morning. Mrs. Burkin was operating the machine, the police reported, and in turning the corner the vehicle came in contact with a tree and overturned. Mr. Burkin received a slight injury to his head. He was taken to Garfield Hospital in a passing ambulance.

$7,900 Paid for Plaza Lots.
The commission of awards paid out today a check for $7,900 the heirs of the Dalrymple estate for lots A and B, square 684, included in the proposed extension of Union station plaza. The property is located on Delaware avenue northeast, between C and D streets.

DOWNTOWN MAIL PROBLEM.
When Is a Postal Station Not a Postal Station, and Why?
To the Editor of The Star:

Permit me to add to the many instances of poor postal arrangements in this city the following experience, which demonstrates that the assurance of Postmaster Praeger that he had supplied the downtown Washington with adequate accommodations in lieu of the old central office at 11th street and Pennsylvania avenue lacks substance in fact.

I had occasion this morning to post two packages for foreign delivery, one a bundle of newspapers and a book for a soldier in one of the European armies. I went to the drug store station at 14th street and Pennsylvania avenue, where we of downtown Washington are supposed to be accommodated, and there I could post the newspaper bundle there, but not the book. To post the book I had to go to a "lettered" station, that being a "numbered" station. I had a choice of going to New York avenue between 13th and 14th streets, or to the corner of 8th and F streets, the former five blocks and the latter seven blocks distant. I had already walked two blocks to the "numbered" station. It was necessary for me to walk several blocks and return, having made my initial mistake of supposing that the postal station was in truth a postal station and that at it I could post any sort of mail matter. Had I been wiser, or a better guesser, I could have saved four or five blocks by going first to the 8th and F street station, a distance of five blocks from my office. In this city of Washington, the headquarters of the postal organization, where we have been repeatedly told that we get the best even if the city post office has been moved a mile to the east of the center of population, it is thus necessary to walk half a mile to post a package, if you do not happen to possess a weighing scale and to have the stamps in your pocketbook. Just why a "numbered" station cannot take all kinds of mail matter or at least weigh it and sell the necessary stamps is one of the mysteries that make the local postal system a source of constant annoyance and a cause of much weariness of spirit on the part of Washington's business men. Just when relief will come is problematical. Reason has not moved the authorities. Criticism has not caused them to show any softening of disposition. It would seem to be up to the public to wait for a change in disposition.

PASSPORTS FOR SAILORS.
Government Plans Speedy Arrangements for Those Going to England.
Arrangements are being made by the passport bureau of the State Department and the bureau of navigation of the Department of Commerce for the speedy equipment with passports of American sailors bound for British ports, to comply with a recent amendment to the British alien restriction act.

To save time and prevent delay in the sailing of steamships already scheduled, probably Dispatch Agent Roosa, in New York city, will be authorized to issue passports to such sailors after they have been properly certified by the United States courts.

It is understood that British sailors will have to secure passports from the consuls of their own nationality at the port of sailing. As understood here the new regulation does not require passports for sailors who are willing to remain aboard the ship while in British ports.
